Programme Backdrop

The Indian Knowledge System is deeply rooted in the cultural, spiritual and philosophical traditions & practices of India. It encompasses various domains of knowledge including Philosophy, Spirituality, Science, Mathematics, Astronomy, Medicine, Literature etc. The core components of Indian Knowledge System viz. Gyan (Knowledge), Vigyan (Science) and Jeevan Darshan (Philosophy of Life) have been evolved as the result of experience, observation, experimentation, investigation and rigorous analysis. This tradition of validating and putting the knowledge into practice were the unique features of this knowledge System. It integrates traditional values & cultural heritage with contemporary knowledge thereby facilitating the comprehensive understanding, meaningfulness & relevance of the knowledge not only at national but also at global level. Therefore, various domains of knowledge pertaining to Science has to be explored & analysed with respect to its usefulness & practicability towards the current educational scenario & practices. In this backdrop, two weeks multidisciplinary Refresher Course has been organised with an intent to explore knowledge of various Science disciplines in context of Indian Knowledge System.
